

I never knew its construction was inspired by castles across the ocean.

*There are many things I'll never know about that house. The stories of a private residence. The stories of people who lived there.
Some I will come to know, while others remain embedded in those walls*

Memory takes root in the concrete, in spaces, gestures, images, and objects...
Pierre Nora